ABOUT PRIDE IN EDUCATION

Pride in Education is an internationally renowned conference dedicated to promoting inclusivity for the LGBTIQ+ community in educational settings.

The conference provides a unique opportunity for education practitioners, organisations and stakeholders to come together and learn practical tools to support equity and diversity in schools and universities.

Our conference is completely free of charge, making it accessible to all educators regardless of their budget.

As one of the largest LGBTIQ+ global inclusion conferences in education, we are committed to supporting education practitioners with their equity agenda and equipping them with the tools and resources they need to provide an inclusive and welcoming environment for all learners and staff.

Since its establishment in 2020, Pride in Education has become a leading authority in promoting LGBTIQ+ inclusivity in education. With delegates and contributors from across the globe, Pride in Education has helped several thousand education practitioners and institutions to create inclusive and celebratory environments for their students and staff.

WHY PRIDE IN EDUCATION?

Embedding LGBTIQA+ lives in the educational curriculum is not only important for promoting diversity and equality, but it can also have a positive impact on the mental health and wellbeing of learners.

By creating an inclusive learning environment that acknowledges and celebrates different identities, students can feel a greater sense of belonging and connection.

This can help to reduce feelings of isolation and marginalisation that LGBTIQA+ students may experience in traditional educational settings, and can ultimately improve their mental health and wellbeing.

Additionally, by promoting acceptance and understanding of different identities, the curriculum can help to reduce stigma and discrimination, which can contribute to better mental health outcomes for all learners.
